September 13 Conference Call: The 'Death Positive' movement

This month's conference call is a discussion with Dr. Karen Wyatt of End of Life University and author of What Really Matters? 7 Lessons for Living from the Stories of the Dying.

Lee Webster will interview Dr. Karen Wyatt, hospice physician, author, and master interviewer for End of Life University. We'll talk about the 'death positive' movement and how home funerals tie into that, and also about our recent partnership between EOLU and the NHFA. Plus we'll learn why Karen chose to take on death-related interviews and what she has learned that has changed her life.

- Sunday, Sept 13 at 8pm ET, 7pm CT, 6pm MT, 5pm PT
- Call in number: 425-440-5100, pin code: 882570#.
- For those who want to listen on their computers:

Everybody's talking about it!

When NHFA President Lee Webster sat down with Dr. Karen Wyatt of End of Life University recently to talk about home funerals, we hear that a lot of people were listening. The hour-long interview spanned topics from why we need home funerals, who can do them, how they contribute to changing our relationship with death and family and community, and how the NHFA has come to be the top thought leader in the home funeral movement in its short existence.
